The Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996 (DCIA) requires the FCC to collect a TIN/SSN from each person doing business with them. All Amateur Radio license and upgrade applicants must use their Federal Registration Number (FRN), if they have been assigned one, when completing Form NCVET 605. Using your FRN also means that you need not enter your SSN.

As of February 17, 2015, the FCC no longer routinely issues a paper Amateur Radio license document. Licensees can access their official license via the ULS License Manager. You may print an unofficial copy from the FCC's ULS License Manager or request a paper license from the FCC. www.wireless.fcc.gov or www.wireless2.fcc.gov

IMPORTANT: A new question pool for General Class exams will be used effective July 1, 2015.

Special testing assistance or needs must be arranged in advance.
